VISIT WITH

Christina Herr

LDL will host local writer Christina Herr for an author talk on Monday, December 2 at 6 PM at the deAngeli branch about her new book, Good Mourning: Finding Hope & Healing After Losing a Loved One. Good Mourning is a relatable companion for anyone dealing with grief & loss. Equal parts memoir of the author's own painful experience as well as practical tools and encouragement for healing. Herr provides a balance of original poetry, engaging narratives, and thoughtful questions in every chapter to help people reclaim hope in heartache.

Herr is a local writer, educator and entrepreneur who writes to make sense of grief, family, trauma, and loss, and to help others do the same. Good Mourning is her first book and was published after losing both of her parents, all of her grandparents and a best friend by the time she was 32. Her writing has been published in online outlets such as Huffington Post, Today Parents and Love What Matters.

This program is free to attend. Registration is required. Copies of Good Mourning will be available for purchase at the event.
